A regulation of this kind prevails elecady in the City of London, where meat that has been condemned is often sold se manure at 61bs, for a penny after being aubjected to a process which prevents al possibility of a dishonest purchaser foisting tt on poor people as an article of food. That most bought at naval stores has been largely resold under conditions to which at least auspicion attaches, we may conclude from the fact that Lord George Hamilton has found it necessary to make a rule similar to the one enforced by the Corporation of London. It is not, perhaps, surprising that people should buy the pastilent stuff, but that they should be able to find a market for it among ships of the merchant service to anything like the extent implied by Mr Plimsell's statement is extremely doubtful; If it is true, even to any degree, the matter certainly demands searching inquiry.

In addition to other cruelties Sergeant Pflug compelled men to chew dirty socks and forced recruits who failed to stretch their knees properly at drill to lie across two chairs in a certain position. He would then sit upon their unsupported knees till they acreamed from pain, when he would have them gagged.

The guilty sergeants have been sentenced to imprisonment from two to five years, each. The revelation of these cruelties
